YOUNG DESPERADO SURRENDERS

JAMES LYONS AGAIN BEHIND BARS AFTER EFFECTING ESCAPE

Slayer Visited Wife And Evades Posses While Away

NORWALK, O., April 13.—A woman sent James Lyons, youthful desperado and killer back to the jail, from which he escaped to face trial and possible execution for the murder of Frank McGrath, express company detective, shot to death at Havana near here Feb. 18.

Lyons, who escaped from the county jail yesterday morning plunging the entire district into an uproar and bringing scores of men, including national guardsmen, into the field to search for him, was safely in his cell again today, having surrendered because "My wife asked me to."

Young Lyons, who calmly recounted how he escaped, as calmly announced the desire to face trial for the murder of McGrath. Detectives stood guard over the youth today and attorneys meanwhile announced that the trial will open tomorrow.

Lyons' wife, whom he married two years ago, sent him back to the jail to surrender after the youth had offered to place himself in her custody and allow her to collect any reward that may have been offered for his capture.

The young slayer, in revealing that he was married, refused to disclose his wife's name but admitted that she was residing in Norwalk.

Authorities learned with amazement that he was married, having believed that he was single and that when he broke jail he had fled to Toledo, possibly to seek refuge with a "sweetheart."

The few possess which remained out all night, unaware that the desperado had returned of his own accord, were told of the event today when they reported at the jail. The surrender, undoubtedly marked the end of one of the most intense periods in the annals of Norwalk.

Demands that Sheriff Edward Gregory resign because of "carelessness" in allowing Lyons to escape were not repeated today although the board of commissioners yesterday adopted resolutions asking the sheriff to quit.

Gregory broke down and wept upon seeing the slayer. Lyons retired after eating a hearty meal and slept soundly. Before retiring he demonstrated for newspapermen the method which brought him free dom.

RIEDEL NOT AFTER KENT NORMAL POST

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Vernon Riedel, state director of education, is not a candidate for the presidency of Kent State Normal School and would not accept the post if it were offered him, he said today in answer to reports that he would be offered the post.

Riedel said he was mindful that such an offer would be a good one, but that it is entirely out of the line of educational work he expects to follow.

He further added he had no favorite or any suggestion to make in the selection of the new "pres."

UNRELENTING LAW SHADOWS DAYS OF CINDERELLA AND MILLIONAIRE PRINCE

NEW YORK, April 13.—Stern realities appearing to mock the dreams of the former Frances (Peaches) Heenan, have made that 15-year-old girl's first days as the bride of Edward Browning something less than an unqualified success.

Not that one bridegroom, his fifty-one years sitting lightly upon him, hasn't been solicitous. He has been all of that at such times as he and his wife have been exposed to public view. But certain honeymoon developments have conspired to make "Peaches" somewhat miserable.

One of the latest pronouncements to cast a shadow on the course of the Browning marriage was that of Special Attorney Clayton Rider of Putnam County where the wedding took place Saturday who threatened investigation as to whether either bride or bridegroom had established six months residence before applying for the license.

Another bit of disturbing news was given the young wife by physicians yesterday, who examined burns on her chin and neck which were sustained mysteriously some time ago when some one threw acid upon her while she slept.

The doctors agreed that some scars would be left.

PLOUGHMAN FINDS INDIAN BONE RELIC

GLOUSTER, O., April 13.—(UP)—George Linscott, plowing on his Ames Township farm, unearthed the thigh bone of a human being, presumably that of an Indian.

Scientists will be asked to explore the mound in which it was found, sometime this summer.

DRUNKENNESS MORE WIDESPREAD NOW IS TOLD TO COMMITTEE

Moderation League Director Heard At Senate Hearing

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Drunkenness is more widespread now than in the days of the open saloon, Stanley Shirk, research director of the New York Moderation League told the senate prohibition committee today.

Opening the final stage of the wet case, Shirk revealed results of his national survey showing arrests for drunkenness had increased in 457 representative places from 250,000 in 1920 to 550,000 in 1924.

Every state in the union was represented in the survey from which Shirk concluded:

"When we consider that drunkenness generally has already increased to the pre-prohibition level and that drunken drivers and drunken children have increased far above anything ever known before, we cannot escape the conclusion that the Volstead act has utterly failed to do what it was intended to do, namely promote temperance and sobriety."

"Conditions have become worse, not better each year. With the 'next generation' drinking as never before there is no hope that the Volstead act in its present drastic form will accomplish its purpose in the long run."

"From the experience before national prohibition of the states which had restrictive laws, from the experience of the years 1916-1919 and from the experience of the Canadian provinces we believe that a greater degree of temperance can be attained by a wise restrictive law than by a bone-dry law which does not command the respect of a large part of the people."

"We are also of the firm conviction that such a policy of wise restriction would have the incidental advantage of eliminating almost entirely the scandalous corruption and bribery of public officials; would stop the growth of the bootlegging millionaire class; would check disrespect for law and would in addition, produce a handsome national revenue."

"If former wet states, drunkenness is about the same now as before prohibition," Shirk said, "but in states which had their own dry laws before prohibition, drunkenness is much higher than in 1914."

Taking Washington, D. C., as an example, Shirk said arrests of persons under twenty-two years old, averaged forty-four a year from 1914 to 1917 when a bone dry act was enacted here. Immediately there was an increase in child drunkenness, he said. In 1918 the forty-four figure had grown to seventy-three and by 1924 had reached 282 an increase of 504 per cent from the pre-prohibition year.

Shirk said his figures were gained from official records of chiefs of police. He also told of increases in drunken auto drivers, saying no city registered a decrease.

In Akron, Ohio, for instance, he said, arrests increased from one in 1914 to 245 in 1924. In twenty representative places the increase was from 1,322 in 1919 to 6,096 in 1924.

STECK TAKES SENATORIAL SEAT CUTTING REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

Defeat Of Four Republican Candidates For Senate Would Cripple Party Majority— Brookhart To Run Again.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—With Daniel F. Steck functioning today as Democratic Senator from Iowa, by the grace of considerable Republican support—politicians began casting up the political balance resulting from the odd fight in the Steck-Senator Brookhart election contest.

As a result they found that the Democrats must win only eight of the twenty odd Republican senatorial seats this fall to overcome the Republican majority in the Senate.

The defeat of even four Republicans would throw the balance of power back to the "insurgents" Republican group where it flourished last session.

The seating of Daniel Steck, Democrat and "American Legion Commander of Iowa" by the senate changed the line up to fifty-five republicans, forty democrats and one farmer-laborite.

"I'm glad it's all over," Brookhart said today, commenting on the Senate vote of forty-five to forty-one by which he was unseated.

The insurgent Republican who added in the department of Justice investigation is expected to return home and enter the primaries against Senator Cummins, Republican senior Iowa senator. Brookhart said he would make a statement tomorrow.

WILL PROBE STATUS OF THREE CHILDREN

CINCINNATI, April 13.—Investigation of the status of Sigmund, Bianca and Eric Denston, Gambier, Ohio, children of Walter Denston, Professor at Kenyon College, accidentally shot to death recently, was started today by Thomas Thomas, U. S. Immigration inspector. A letter from Mrs. Cecelia Denston, in England charges Denston left England and entered the United States with another woman with whom he then was living, caused the investigation.

DONAHEY IS MADE MEMBER OF LEAGUE

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Gov. Vic Donahey today was unanimously elected an honorary member of the Isaak Walton League of America, one of the largest outdoor organizations in the country.

"In view of your great interest in conservation and in the out of doors" read a letter received by the executive, from the president of the league, in extending the honor to the governor, "we have unanimously elected you an honorary member of the league."

HEADS HOSPITAL

CLEVELAND, O., April 13.—(UP)—Dr. Charles E. Parsons, formerly of Marietta, Ohio, now superintendent of Notre Dame Bay Memorial Hospital at Twilligate, on the northern coast of Newfoundland, is in Cleveland for his first taste of city life in two years.

The hospital was started by the community and since has been kept nearly self-supporting, Dr. Parsons said.

Following Denston's death, his present wife left for Canada, deserting Denston's three children by a first wife in Gambier. Thomas will investigate legality of the admittance of the children into the United States.

General Butler's accusations, hurled in open court martial were directly controverted by testimony of defense witnesses, who declared Col. Williams had a sudden attack of stomach trouble at the hotel Del Coronado, which necessitated he be assisted home.

General Butler told the court martial that he saw Col. Williams "intoxicated" declaring vigorously that he was "so drunk" he had to be carried from the hotel.

PUPILS EXPELLED

DELAWARE, O., April 13.—Publication was meted out to Edward Heil and Kittridge Wickham, high school seniors who confessed they committed depredations in the high school building when they were formally expelled for the rest of the school year.

The Burbank properties are valuable ones and the beauties of nature which the gardens contain are too precious to let die, now that the master who created them is dead.

Stanford University may take over Burbank's experimental farms at Sebastopol, near here but in the smaller gardens near the residence, the men who served him so faithfully during life will carry on.

Santa Rosa continued in sorrow today waiting the memorial service tomorrow in tribute to its first citizen.

FANS THRONG PARKS AS IDEAL WEATHER GREET'S MOST TEAMS

Predictions Rife As Major Loop Clubs Begin Races

The skies smiled in most of the major league cities today where during the afternoon the baseball season will have its inception before thunderous audiences expected to cram the corners of eight parks.

In Boston, usually a bug-bear for season openers, it was cold but higher temperatures were predicted later today. The sun was shining brightly.

Washington's fans awoke disappointed to find the air chilled and the skies overcast.

The other cities reported almost ideal weather.

As the sixteen teams prepared to fire their opening blasts the "guessers" were hard at it. Scarcely a fan doesn't have his own ideas to how late September will find the teams placed.

Wall Street is always willing to accommodate those who seek to finance their baseball predictions and odds were quoted by betting commissions as follows:

National: New York 5 to 1; Pittsburgh 2 to 1; St. Louis 4 to 1; Cincinnati 5 to 1; Boston 6 to 1; Brooklyn 7 to 1; Philadelphia 5 to 1; Chicago, 10 to 1.

American: Washington 2 to 1; Philadelphia 2 to 1; New York 5 to 2; Detroit 4 to 1; St. Louis 5 to 1; Chicago 6 to 1; Cleveland 8 to 1; Boston 2 to 1.

Those odds are unfair in the typical Wall Street manner since both "Books" figure more than 150 per cent, meaning that the layer of odds figures to collect fifty per cent commission no matter what teams finally win.

The United Press, in an effort to learn whether country-wide opinions of sporting writers might coincide with the odds given above today compiled the predictions of its sporting editor, Henry L. Farrell with those of Ralph Davis, Pittsburgh Press; W. E. Williams, Cleveland Press; Gene Kessler, Washington Post; Frederick J. Lieb, New York Telegram and Tom Swope, Cincinnati Post.

The compilation on the basis of eight points for first place; seven for second, showed the following result:

National—Pittsburgh 45 1-2; New York 43; Cincinnati 33 1-4; St. Louis 32; Boston 24; Brooklyn 19; Philadelphia 11; Chicago 8.

American—Philadelphia 42 1-2; Washington 42; New York 35 1-2; St. Louis 34; Detroit 33; Chicago 22; Cleveland 12; Boston 6.

It will be noted that each of the six writers chose Cleveland and Boston to finish seventh and eighth in the American League.

CHARGE DENIED BY MARINE OFFICER

MARINE BASE, SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 13.—Col. Alexander S. Williams had "stomach trouble" on the night of March 6 and was not "full of cocktails" as charged by General Smedley Butler, according to the accused officer's defense which opened today at his court martial here on charges of intoxication.

Butler's accusations, hurled in open court martial were directly controverted by testimony of defense witnesses, who declared Col. Williams had a sudden attack of stomach trouble at the hotel Del Coronado, which necessitated he be assisted home.

General Butler told the court martial that he saw Col. Williams "intoxicated" declaring vigorously that he was "so drunk" he had to be carried from the hotel.

BURBANK'S WORK TO BE CARRIED ON IS PROMISE MADE BY WIDOW

SANTA ROSA, Calif., April 13.—Just as the plants which Luther Burbank nurtured so tenderly shall live now that he has gone, so will the work he planned be carried on by those left behind.

"The spring planting will not be discontinued," said Mrs. Burbank today. "This is the growing season and my husband's plans will be carried out."

Members of the Burbank household including his many expert gardeners are expert naturalists and they will be able to propagate every species which Burbank developed if not display his ardor in creating new flowers or vegetables.

Senator McKinley, Coolidge Candidate, Has Strong Opposition From Colonel Smith— Brennan Good As Nominated.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The Coolidge administration was on trial today as Illinois voters marched to the polls to select senatorial nominees to both major political parties.

In previous primaries throughout the country this year, the Coolidge strength has been tested slightly but Illinois Republican voters today must decide either for or against the national administration. It is an out and out test.

Senator William B. McKinley, Coolidge Republican, is seeking re-nomination with the administration program as his platform. He is opposed by Colonel Frank L. Smith, down-state political who has waged a bitter-battle against most of the administration program, particularly the world court resolution.

Principal interest in today's election will be in the Republican nomination as the Democrats are expected to turn in a tremendous majority for George Brennan, Chicago political boss, who seeks a senate seat on a "dripping wet" platform.

Clear skies and spring temperatures brought assurances that the vote in today's primary—which has been highly ballhooped for months—would be heavy.

The early morning vote in Chicago, was heavy and first reports from down state indicated that both parties were mustering full strength.

Here in Chicago, where in addition to the senatorial fight there are numerous bitter local contests, extreme precautions were taken to guard the polls. The entire police strength of the city was on duty but despite this the first hours voting brought reports of trouble. One election worker was slugged in the early voting and three precinct workers were reported kidnapped.

TRACY CRITICIZES USE OF FAIR FUNDS

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Court action may be instituted to prevent "diverting of legitimate receipts due the treasury" from leases of State Fair Grounds buildings, State Auditor Tracy said in a letter today to Governor Donahue as a result of the Governor's approval of State Director of Agriculture Charles Truax's policy of accepting newspaper advertising for a fair in lieu of cash rentals.

In approving continuation of this policy, the governor, Tracy charged, was authorizing violation of a law that the Governor had taken credit for having enacted. Tracy expressed approval of the governor's recent order directing the elimination of free passes to the state fair.

WILL GRADUATE

MARYSVILLE, O., April 13.—(UP)—The annual commencement exercises of the Pharisburg High School will take place in the Methodist Protestant Church Thursday, April 22.

"GOT TO HAVE A LITTLE FUN" LYONS SAYS ON HIS RETURN AFTER ESCAPE FROM JAIL

By JAMES LYONS
HURON COUNTY JAIL, NORWALK, O., April 13.—A woman's wife whom I hadn't seen until yesterday, for nine months—sent me back to jail to face the electric chair.

I was not outside of Norwalk all day Monday.

I walked about the streets, passed persons I know well. I know there were some of those who were looking for me.

I also took this occasion to visit a few of the boys who had been talking too much, and to leave them a little message that I might be back to see them some anytime unless they did less talking about me in the future.

I found out ten days ago that I could unlock the jail door and let myself out any time I wanted to.

In walking around the bull pen, I studied the locks and found I could pick all of them. One of the easiest was the lever box which controls the locks on the bull pen door.

I was going to wait until later to make my get-away, but last night I decided that they might place a guard in the cell with me after the trial started, so I made up my mind to leave.

I set 2 a. m. as the hour I would escape, but overslept and did not wake up until 3 a. m. With a little piece of wire I threw the bolts on the bull pen door. This took me half an hour, because I had to wait until street cars and trucks passed so that no one would hear me.

After I opened the bull pen door, I picked the lock on the outside door and opened it. Then I went back to my cell and put on my clothes. Hugh Burdus, the guard came up and looked into the cell but I heard him coming and was in bed.

I fixed up a dummy in the bed, took off the door. This took me half an hour, because I had to wait until street cars and trucks passed so that no one would hear me.

When I got to the bridge of sighs I found a Yale lock on the door to the courthouse and because this would take too long to fix, I went back to the jail and got a blanket off my cot.

When I came back I struck a loose bar in the bridge and it rang out like a bell. I thought sure I was gone. I tied the blanket to the bottom of the bridge and crawled up through the roof, through a hole which I had noticed when they took me over for arraignment.

A clock struck four as I slid down the blanket and started to run out of the alley and east on Seminary St. When I left I had decided to go to a place twenty miles away where I could stay under cover for a month if necessary.

Almost as soon as my feet struck the pavement I began to charge my mind. I decided to go and see my wife instead. I married her two years ago under a phony name. I knew what would happen when I saw her. That she wouldn't have anything to do with me. I hadn't done right by her so I told her I would lay to until they put another thousand on my head.

"Then," I told her, "you can turn me in and get the reward." I pretended this to her while we ate breakfast. She refused.

"Jim," she said, "you've got no business here. Go back and give yourself up. I wouldn't touch any money gotten that way. I wouldn't even take it from you either."

I was with her five hours and then I went to call on some of my "friends."

Some I saw personally, others I left notes for. These fellows have been talking too much and I wanted to throw a little scare into them. I told them I was out of jail again and might call on them any time and they had better keep quiet.

Late in the afternoon I built a fire beside the road, just east of town and dried my shoes. Trolley cars went by so close I could see the passengers.

Some of the searchers went by too, but they seemed to be looking up into the air—thought I'd be there, I guess.

Then I decided to take my wife's advice and come back. I walked up Seminary Street to Benedict, after I had been on Main and a half a dozen other streets and then went up the steps to the Sheriff's home.

I rang the bell and the Sheriff's son, Clarence, opened the door. I asked if Sheriff Gregory was in. Clarence said: "No, he's not here," and started to close the door.

Then he said: "I'll be damned if it isn't Jim!" and he grabbed my shoulder. He called his sister, Lucille. She looked at me and said: "It's Jim Lyons, it's Jim Lyons, are you back for good, Jim?"

I said: "Sure, why not. What do you think I came back for—for my other set of clothes or something?"

Sheriff Gregory was very glad to see me when I came back. And had I known of all the fuss they were going to make on my return I would have waited until midnight and then sneaked in the same way I got out. I guess that would have surprised them, no?

All of us got to have a little fun once in a while. I had mine yesterday and I wouldn't have much trouble leaving again for a while.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT FIRM

Charging fraudulent representation in real estate, a receivership suit was instituted in common pleas court, Dayton, Saturday against the International Development Co., 816 Reibold Building, Dayton, promoters of the Wright View Heights, near Wilbur Wright field by Ennis E. Cox and Virginia Cox of Miami-burg.

An injunction to restrain the realty company from continuing alleged fraudulent operations also is sought in the suit.

The plaintiffs alleged several months ago they received a card from the development company announcing they won a lot in Wright View Heights. A $1 deposit was asked to hold the deal intact until the property could be viewed, after which the plaintiffs were required to pay the company $48 in order to secure the deed, which amount was to cover all costs of the lot.

While at the plat the defendants' agent proposed the plaintiffs trade their lot, which he said was worth $300, for another lot in the plat which the defendant, it is said, falsely represented as being worth $775.

He agreed to credit them with

$48 paid for the lot won by them on the more expensive lot, the petition charges. The balance was to be paid at the rate of $12 a month. The petition charges the lot purported to be worth $775 was, at the time of the transaction, worth but $50.

The petitioners seek to recover their $48 and force the concern into receivership, as well as enjoin it from further operations.

BRONZE FOUNDRY AT ANTIOCH FINISHES CASTING NEW BUSTS

Since commencing operations, the art bronze factory of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, has completed the casting of busts of Arthur E. Morgan, president of the college; C. F. Kettering, chief engineer of the General Motors Research Corporation, Dayton, and of Colonel Deeds, Dayton financier. The "Italian lost wax process" is used.

The busts were modeled by C. S. Paolo, a New York sculptor, during the past year.

Giovanni Polizzotto, formerly of the Academy of Arts, Palermo, Sicily, and famous in Italy for his sculpture and bronze casting, is in charge of the foundry operations and has been in Yellow Springs since December making preliminary arrangements. His most famous piece of work is an equestrian group which stands today in Rome.

The "lost wax process" operates as follows: A plaster of Paris cast of the artist's model is first made. A hollow wax model is moulded from this. From this model, which is the exact thickness of the cast, two plaster of Paris casts are formed, one of the inside and another of the outside. Wax is then melted out and molten bronze poured in and allowed to harden. When the plaster casts are broken off, finishing touches are added.

By use of this method, it is the aim to have quality production rather than quantity, and produce art works of real artistic value.

Kaiser Boyle is the production and business manager of the enterprise. Walter McQuire is technician. Polizzotto, foundry superintendent and Chris Schultz, sales manager.

These are all head movements and every move should be fully completed; in other words, do not hurry the exercise but complete each bend to the fullest extent. Continue each for 16 counts.

The first movement consists of lowering the head, then raising it and bending it back as far as possible.

TOO FAT? TOO THIN?

By J. J. Toedt, Director of Physical Education, Wilson Avenue Dept., Y. M. C. A., Chicago.

XVIII. HEAD WORK

Today's exercise will be found to be different from any you have learned so far. It will bring some brand new muscles into action.

Position: Kneeling on all fours, with hands on the floor.

Exercise:

(a) Have head lowered, then raise

sible. The second is performed by bending your head to either side, meanwhile looking downward. Then, looking toward the ceiling, you rotate the head as you look to the left and to the right. In the last movement, known as circumduction, you make a circle with your head, first one way for eight counts and then the other.

If this last part of the exercise makes you dizzy at first, decrease the number of counts, but go through these exercises every day.

The Theatre

Whatever the turn of the tide, the American theater is in for a day of reckoning in the opinion of John J. Daly, dramatic critic of the Washington Post, given in an article in the National Republic, recently.

"In what might be called the day of heebiejeebee dramaturgy, when plays to hold the attention of nervous audiences must performe administer more of the drug that eventually tears down rather than saves the nervous systems, shocks the sensibilities and outrages a wrathful portion of the populace—the reformers—tis a good doctor who can put his finger at once on any vital spot and say just what ails the patient; in this case the American Theater—

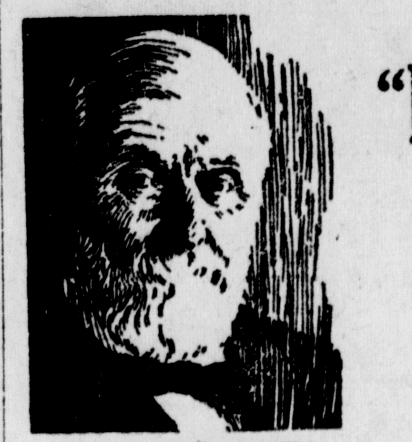

"An old timer, were he to return today, would hardly recognize the place. Mechanically, the American theater has far surpassed all others. There are no finer playhouses on earth than those in New York and the larger cities of this country. American scenic art, stage craft and other such adjuncts to the theater—acting, too—hold their own with contemporaries in any clime.

"In manner and method of entertainment, the American brand has something to answer for; and this with the recognition that London and Paris are also accused of being on a par theatrically with New York. Just at present, Paris, is probably one step ahead of our own metropolis in presenting nudity on the stage. London is a close second with crudity, not to menity, indelicate and oft times indecent situations—they merely follow a natural trend."

AGENT WINS WATCH AS CONTEST PRIZE

Otto Hornick, Xenia agent for the Columbia Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, won first prize in the selling contest conducted among agents he learned at the convention at Cincinnati Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

Mr. Hornick was awarded a gold wrist watch as the first prize in his division, having sold the most insurance during an eighteen-day contest. He attended the convention with Mrs. Hornick, both being the guests of the company at a round of entertainment during the three day meeting.

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate" the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 60-cent bottle at any store that sells medicines and just see for yourself. adv

WHOS WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently in the evening, though she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Celia and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attentions she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake learns that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She telephones Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Celia disappears. Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his. Mary goes to work in New York for MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son WILL CRANDALL, who is very nice to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas. Mary goes with Will to the house of the week end with his brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Virginia Crandall. Old Mr. Crandall is taken ill, and Will and Jim return to town. Mary goes to the beach with Virginia and there meets Cecelia again. Mary hears from Pat Hamilton, who says that if she will do some stenographic work for him she can cancel her debt to him. She returns to New York. Hamilton persuades her to break her engagement to Will Crandall.

then walked around the block several times. When she returned Will's mother was just walking from the hospital out to her car, and a man whom Mary did not know was with her.

"It looks very encouraging, certainly; you need not worry about him now," he was saying to Mrs. Crandall. "His knowing you as soon as he was conscious was excellent. Yes, indeed, I'll phone you in an hour. I'm glad that you could stay through the night—it was wonderfully brave of you."

Mary stood quite still, watching them go. She had begged to see Will, during the night, but the nurse had told her that no one could see him. They had let his mother remain with him—but had kept her out.

She hurried over to the doctor as he was turning toward his car.

"Oh, could you tell me how Will—Will Crandall—is?" she asked. "I stayed in the waiting-room all night, and I—am he better?"

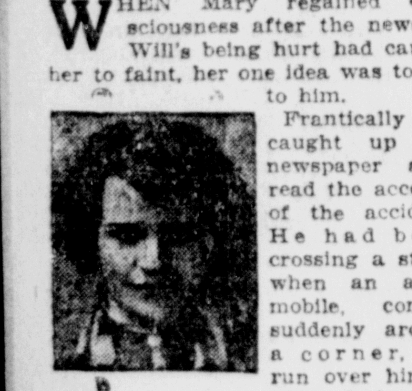

The doctor looked at her curiously. "If you'll ask at the desk inside they will tell you how he is," he told her, and got into his car.

Mary turned and ran into the hospital. It was not until after she had made inquiries and been told that Will had recovered from the anesthetic, but that she could not see him, that she began to realize that Will's family was thrusting her out into the cold.

"Surely they won't be cruel and keep me from him when they realize that he wants to see me," she told herself. "They couldn't be so un-

XLV—LIFE'S CRUELTY

WHEN Mary regained consciousness after the news of Will's being hurt had caused her to faint, her one idea was to get to him.

Practically she caught up the newspaper and read the account of the accident. He had been crossing a street when an automobile, coming suddenly around a corner, had run over him.

VIOLET DARE He had been taken to a hospital. Grabbing her hat and coat, Mary ran from the house, and hailed a passing taxi. She gave the driver the name of the hospital, and although the drive was really a short one, to her it seemed endless.

At the hospital she asked if she might see Will.

"He can't see anyone," she was told. "He has just been brought back from the operating-room, and is still unconscious."

"But—tell me how he is, if he's going to get well," she begged.

"Just a minute." She had been talking to a girl who was in charge of the waiting-room. The girl turned to a nurse who was passing and talked with her for a few moments, then returned to Mary.

"It is impossible to tell now whether he will recover or not," she said. "If you will phone in the morning—"

"Couldn't I wait here?" Mary asked. "Maybe in a few hours you'd be able to tell me something. I can't go away!"

The girl said that she might remain in the waiting-room if she cared to, and Mary went to a chair in the corner and sat there, staring down at the floor, looking up eagerly whenever anyone came to the door.

There were other people waiting, too, people whose faces looked as strained and anxious as Mary's. Two men, a woman with a little girl at her side, who hurried to the door when one of the doctors appeared there for a moment, stood listening while he spoke to her, and then burst into sobs that made Mary's throat ache.

Mary felt that she knew all the sorrow in the world as she sat there, that she could sympathize with everyone, anywhere, who was in trouble.

She stayed there all night long, feeling as if she had spent a lifetime in the chair on which she sat.

In the morning, urged by the nurse with whom she finally talked, she went to breakfast. The nurse had told her that there was no change in Will's condition, that there probably would be for several hours. She made herself eat, and

The doctor looked at her curiously. "If you'll ask at the desk inside they will tell you how he is," he told her, and got into his car.

Mary turned and ran into the hospital. It was not until after she had made inquiries and been told that Will had recovered from the anesthetic, but that she could not see him, that she began to realize that Will's family was thrusting her out into the cold.

"Surely they won't be cruel and keep me from him when they realize that he wants to see me," she told herself. "They couldn't be so un-

Mary did go home, and fell asleep the moment she lay down on her bed. She returned to the hospital early in the evening, and was told that Will was better, but still was not allowed to see him.

"But—he and I were going to be married today," she told the nurse at last. "Couldn't I see him for just a moment?"

Mrs. Crandall entered the hall just then, and the nurse hurried to meet her. She glanced over at Mary, and then shook her head, replied to the nurse's questions, and turned away.

"I'm sorry," the nurse said to Mary, coming back to her, "but Mrs. Crandall feels that it will be better if you do not see her now. He mustn't be disturbed by anything."

Mary went home feeling like a beaten animal. Was it possible that Will didn't want to see her, hadn't asked for her? Or was his mother deliberately coming between them seeking to keep them apart?

She tried all the following week to see Will, but was never allowed to do so. At the end of that time she was told that he had been removed to his family's country place.

Once more she faced the problem of getting work and making a new life for herself.

It was hard, but she clung to a new hope now. Surely, when Will grew better, really recovered from his accident, he would come to her. She felt sure that it was not his fault, but his family's that she was not at his side.

Not until Pat Hamilton again forced his way into her life did things become unbearable.

Tomorrow—Hamilton's Wav.

Jury deliberated two hours after receiving the case at 2:30 p. m. The administrator brought suit for damages against the company as a result of a crossing accident at Roxanna nearly a year ago, in which Russell Conner was instantly killed when his automobile was struck by a train.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feel young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a sorrowful complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—dull eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that natural buoyancy which all should enjoy by toning up the liver and clearing the system of impurities.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are known by their olive color. 15c and 30c.

NOTHING IN A NAME

WHAT'S in a name? Parents name their children before they have the slightest notion what the children are going to turn out like, and yet the system works admirably. All because there's nothing in a name.

People name a son Hercules, not because he has shown any signs of superhuman strength in the cradle, but because the parents happen to like the sound or associations of the name. Society sees nothing ridiculous in the fact that the magic name of Samson is often attached to nervous little men who are afraid of their wives and jump at a dog's bark.

It is generally recognized that a name is not a description, but merely a means of identification. The Thomases are no greater doubters than the Joneses; the Violets no more nor less modest than other feminine namesakes of flowers, and neither are the Daisies more taciturn than the Helens and Cleopatras.

This is contrary to the view of some who profess to be authorities on the question, but the weight of the evidence seems to sustain the belief that the appropriately named are in the minority and that even those in the minority owe their apt christening to chance.

Apropos of this question, it may be observed that the man makes the name, not the name the man. Not for the famous men and women who bore them this generation would attach no especial significance or meaning to such names as William Shakespeare, John Keats, Robert Browning, Frances Bacon, Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, Queen Elizabeth and Edgar Allen Poe.

Usually, where the believers in the power of the name, give examples, it will be found that they are cases where the parent has both christened and trained the child with one purpose in view, or that the peculiarly adapted name is a nom de plume or pseudonym. Anatole France, Moliere and George Eliot are adopted names. Robert Louis Stevenson was christened Robert Lewis Stevenson. George Bernard Shaw has dropped the "George". Mark Twain's real name was Samuel Langhorne Clemens.

SUMMERLESS YEARS

AFTER meteorological records have been kept for centuries it may be possible to surmise with some degree of accuracy that certain years will be marked by extraordinary weather conditions. But it is a bit premature to rush to the conclusion, because spring has been belated, that this is to be "a year without a summer," like 1816. It will be better to wait until after July and August before putting 1926 in that class.

So many myths have been circulated concerning 1816 that it is gratifying to obtain an unvarnished account of the freaks of the weather in that year. Such a report is available in a diary kept by Elisha Risdon of Hopkinton, N. Y., a part of which has recently been published. His entries show that snow fell on June 6 and 8, while under date of June 14 he wrote: "It has frozen every night since June came in, except a few rainy, foggy nights." June 28 there was a little frost. The backwardness of the crops caused alarm in July. Or August 24 he wrote: "Considerable frost. Vines and even corn, in some places are ruined."

One reason why there is expectation in some quarters that this is to be a "summerless year" is that for six consecutive years temperatures east of the Rocky mountains have been generally above normal. The theory is entertained that to compensate for the high temperatures there must be weather conditions over an extended period of years to warrant the forming of conclusions. There is no basis in the records for believing, as some profess they do, that the a season of unusually low thermometer readings. But too little is known with regard to definite laws of sequence of weather moves in cycles of 55 years.

TIME AND CHANCE

THERE is a destiny which shapes our ends and our lives, but what a frail and inconspicuous destiny it is! One little incident may change the whole tenor of a life, has made a success out of a failure, has given fame and even immortality.

Joseph Conrad, greatest writer of sea stories, became a sea-rover because his first books as a Polish boy were of the sea and exploration. What might he have been as a man if his library as a boy had been other than it was?

Benjamin Franklin followed vague inclination to ship from Boston to Philadelphia and became Pennsylvania's leading citizen of his time, the spokesman for the American colonies and an immortal figure in American history. What might he have been had he continued in the employ of his brother's print shop?

Who can account for the chance dig of the spade which uncovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, the fortunate discovery of the first oil well at Titusville, Pa., and the gold nugget which precipitated the rush of the forty-niners to California?

Many of us can place our fingers on one happening, perhaps accidental, which was the deciding factor in the determination of our life's work. A chance perusal of the classified advertising page of a newspaper has been this deciding factor for thousands. Such a thing as a news item has been known to serve as the one break in the wall of the rut.

When Elbert Hubbard wrote that "Man should follow the dictates of his passions" he did not mean that he should give full play to his desires, but that the subconscious inclinations of man are sooner to be obeyed than obstacle-finding, inspiration-dampening, deliberation.

Mr. John Ryan, one of our well known Irish citizens, has been sick for several days. There is quite a building boom on Cincinnati Avenue and several new residences are under construction.

Seventeen thousand persons witnessed the downfall of the Cincinnati Reds in the season's opener with Chicago. Score was seven to two. Boston beat Brooklyn, New York whipped Philadelphia and Pittsburgh won from St. Louis.

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES

Mrs. R. H. B.: "What will remove linseed oil and mutton tallow stains?"

Answer: Gasoline, benzine, chloroform and ether remove oil and grease stains. Do not use the fluids near heat or flame. You did not say what the stains are on. Grease spots on wall paper, for instance, may be removed by placing a white blotting paper against the wall paper and then pressing a hot iron against the blotting paper; the iron's heat goes through the blotter, melts the grease, and the blotter absorbs it. Grease-stained washable fabrics may be washed with naphtha soap.

Bride: "It is such a nuisance to keep opening and closing the diamond-paned doors of my pantry china closet; do you think it would do any harm to have the doors taken off? Just open shelves would be such a blessing."

Answer: I think it would be more trouble to keep dusting your dishes than to keep opening and closing doors. You should probably be sorry if you had the doors removed. Now, at least, you have the comfort of taking a dish off your shelves and using it without looking for dust.

Middle Aged: "I am a woman with grown-up children and I have never had time to dress up much. But now I would like to wear a choker necklace with some new dresses I have bought for summer—and I am confronted with the problem of not knowing what is appropriate for me. With gray hair, surely I should not wear green, blue or amber? What would you suggest? I don't want people to think me foolish."

Answer: With gray hair a woman can wear any color. Half the world is today prematurely gray. One of our most famous dancers has capitalized her gray hair by wearing nothing but Platinum Gray to make a symphony of herself. But if you are averse to colors, why not buy yourself one of the crystal chokers? They are effective, very becoming to anybody, yet do not catch the eye so quickly as the colored beads. By all means dress up more! We

PAINTERSVILLE

Paintersville, only village in Caesar Creek Twp., was laid out along the Jamestown Pike, which forms the main street of the village. Painters Creek flows about 200 yards north of the northernmost lot of the town.

Before the village was laid out, the site was a part of the 150-acre farm owned by Jesse Painter, son of David Painter, first settler of Caesar Creek Twp. At that time Jesse Painter and Jonathan Oglesbee owned country stores on its site where residents of the surrounding country came to purchase supplies.

Painter soon decided that the modest trading point was an ideal site for a village. As he owned the surrounding land, he employed Surveyor Moses Collier to plat the town in 1837. Work was finished that year.

After this was completed, Joseph Oglesbee erected a frame building on a lot later owned by John Mason. Cornelius King built the next building, a brick structure, which later became the property of Lewis Thomas. A number of log houses were then built which gave place to frame and brick structures.

Population of Paintersville in 1881 was 150, in 1896, 100 and in 1918 about 150. The town's progress has been retarded since it is not located near a railroad. In the early eighties a narrow-gauge railroad was projected through the village but the plan never materialized.

Comparison of the business interests of the village at different dates shows the movement of the population to urban centers, the rapid means of communication facilitated by the automobile and telephone, and the proximity of larger adjacent villages has caused establishment of business enterprises in the town to lag.

Paintersville has deteriorated in this respect. The village had a saw mill in 1881, owned by James and Thomas Babb; a carriage factory, by Allen and Eli Powers; a blacksmith shop, by William King; a grocery store, by John B. Mason; a harness shop, by Lewis Thomas, and a physician, Dr. William Rowse. Town had two grocery stores, one harness shop, two blacksmith shops and one saw-mill in 1896.

MODISH MITZI—The Lilies Of The Field Get More Publicity BY J. V. JAY

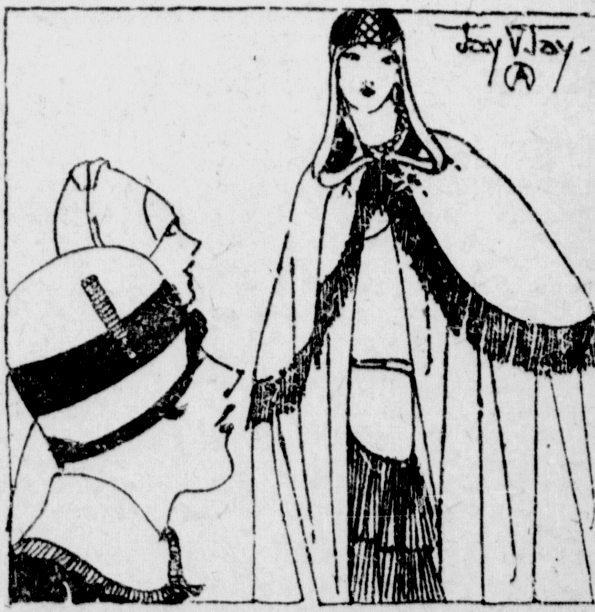

Mitzi is reading with a deep and concentrated interest. Not a detective story. Not a novel. Not—the best of best sellers, either—far more interesting to Mitzi—well, to quote the final paragraph, "Fringe has an ever increasing importance. Silk fringe, chenille and now the new gold or silver mesh fringe."

So Mitzi goes out to find this fringe. And when she sets out to run down fringe in its native haunts she goes to the most likely place. "Silk fringe should be found on evening gowns," says Mitzi. And sure enough she finds it there, on a georgette dress with a fringed cape back and two tiers of the skirt like wise.

A dinner gown also shows the new mesh fringe—just the same kind that is used for bags and purses. Well, it's being used on dinner frocks now with jagged points to it. The V-neck of this frock is trimmed with it as are the armholes. The skirt of this gown, by the way, is of two tiers of pleated net. The tiers show the up-in-front hip line.

For evening, the wraps are trimmed with a mesh fringe. This cape with the cross-stitch hood of mesh has a cage effect outlined with the same mesh fringe. Fashion borrows a great many of its fresh lights from armor effect and from heraldic designs this season. Keep your eye out for fringe this season. It's going to swish very fashionably.

BIGGER AND BETTER SEASON LOOKED FOR BY DIAMOND MOGULS

Teams Closely Grouped In Strength As Race Starts

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Apr. 13.—The old war-cry, "Play ball!" splits the air today.

The season is on in the major leagues and in the American and Southern Associations.

Thousands upon thousands of fans are ready with the frenzied urge to get their favorites off to a flying start for the next world's series.

Grandstands, bleachers and bands are dressed in their summer's best to do justice to the opening of the country's greatest show. And says John Heydler, it will be "bigger and better than ever." Unquestionably a "top-notch season," echoes Commissioner Landis.

"Vice President Dawes will give official approval to the opening by tossing out the ball in the Washington opener instead of President Coolidge.

Scores of thousands of aunts, uncles and grandmothers will conveniently die for the day to give the office boys their chance to participate in the proceedings throughout the land.

The ump, after several months of vocal training and preliminary workouts in the southern camps, are in better voice than ever. The team clowns have dusted off some brand new acts and refurbished a number of old ones so that all who go may laugh.

All in all it looks a great year and the clarion call to arms this afternoon will be music to the ears of fandom from coast to coast. The United Press has made arrangements for thousands of miles of special wires to carry the scores and stories of the big game during the season.

Heydler says it will be a better season than last year because the teams are so closely grouped in the big leagues. And the competition makes the interest which increases the clatter of the dollars in the tills.

In the American League, St. Louis will open at Chicago, Cleveland at Detroit, Philadelphia at Washington and New York at Boston.

In the National League Pittsburgh will open at St. Louis, Chicago at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at New York and Boston at Philadelphia.

Competent critics are almost unanimous in the opinion that four clubs have to be considered in the National League—the champion Pittsburgh Pirates, the New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds. The champion Washington Senators, the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns rank as the foremost contenders in the American League. The New York Yankees are a threat.

With two great pitching staffs, the Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Robins may have to be considered in the National League and the Chicago White Sox might cause an upset in the American League.

Except for the Chicago Cubs, every club in the National League was strengthened during the winter by trades of purchases from the minor leagues and an unusual number of promising youngsters were uncovered at the training camps.

The Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox didn't do anything to improve since last season and they make the American League slightly less balanced than the National circuit.

Babe Ruth, of course, will command a lot of attention. The promise he made to stage a comeback this season will place him in more than the usual prominence. He is in better physical shape than he was last season at this time and he certainly has an added inducement to exert himself, because this is the last season of his $52,000 a year contract.

The experiment to be made in the National League permitting pitchers to rub resin on their hands will be of more than casual interest because it will have a vital effect on the game if better pitching and less hitting result. The American League did not accept the new rule and the pitchers in the younger organization cannot use any kind of foreign substance on the ball.

G. H. BROCKMAN TO BE MANAGER OF XENIA RESERVES THIS SEASON

G. H. Brockman, formerly of New York City, and one-time baseball star, will be the new manager of the Xenia Reserves Baseball Club, succeeding Jesse Chambliss, during the coming season. He is now making Xenia his home.

Brockman intends to give Xenia one of its strongest independent diamond teams in years and has signed up an imposing array of stars.

Mr. Chambliss will retain connection with the team during the season.

Reserve squad held its first strenuous practice session at Washington Park diamond Sunday afternoon, the candidates cavorting around the field with all the enthusiasm of rookies bent upon making a good showing with major league clubs during spring training.

The local nine will probably open its season next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park against the Bowersville Bayliffs. Contest will prove a good association with the well known Thurman Wical on the mound for the Bayliffs.

Among the local and Dayton players signed up with the Reserves this season are: "Stony" Fuller, center fielder; "Smiley" Eckhart, Dayton, shortstop; Cain at first; Ernest Randall, catcher, Jay Cyphers, third base; Jug Conley, second baseman, Milburn, outfielder; Al Ramsey, left field and Eugene Leashe, right field.

Ramsey and Conley may battle for the second base berth. Ramsey has had seven years experience under a former major league player while in the army and both are considered valuable additions to the team.

Eckhart, former Dayton player, will captain the team.

Five pitchers have been lined up giving the Reserves an unusually strong pitching staff. "Red" Powers, former St. Marys star, McPherson, of the Dayton Racers, Curt Free, local boy, Donald Clark, of the Dayton Shroyer Cubs, and Supinsky, of Dayton Stivers High School, will all work in the box at some time or another.

New manager also announces he is negotiating for the services of two Cincinnati players who will probably appear in uniform for a tryout next Sunday.

HEYDLER PREDICTS MAJOR LEAGUE BALL WILL HAVE BIG YEAR

By JOHN A. HEYDLER

President of the National League Major league baseball has been in such a flourishing condition for several years that the old stock prediction that this season will be bigger and better than ever hardly can be applied.

It can't be a much bigger season because the game already has been restricted only by the size of the stands but it is going to be a better season I believe because the competition is going to be much closer.

Practically everyone of the clubs in our league has been improved since last year and there are at least four clubs that have the best of chances to win the pennant. I don't believe anyone can do more than offer a guess which club of the Pittsburgh Pirates, New York Giants, Cincinnati Reds and St. Louis Cardinals will win the pennant. They are so closely grouped in strength and class that I wouldn't hazard a guess on the winner.

The Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Robins are not out of the race and the Philadelphia club is improving slowly but surely.

Interest will be stimulated this season also by an unusually large number of fine young ball players who have been brought up from the minor leagues and by the prospect for better pitching resulting from the change in the rules permitting pitchers to rub resin on their hands.

All of the National League club owners are preparing for a big season and if we are fortunate in getting some good early spring weather we expect some new attendance records for the season.

Babe Ruth, of course, will command a lot of attention. The promise he made to stage a comeback this season will place him in more than the usual prominence. He is in better physical shape than he was last season at this time and he certainly has an added inducement to exert himself, because this is the last season of his $52,000 a year contract.

The Greene County colleges will have spirited opposition for individual entries now number close to 1,000. Eighty-three teams composed of 957 athletes have entered.

STUNICH HELD FOR GRAND JURY AFTER HEARING MONDAY

Charged with being drunk and disorderly and carrying concealed weapons, Frank Stunich, 31, this city, was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor John Prugh at his hearing Monday afternoon.

He was placed under a total bond of $1,000, $500 on each charge.

A third charge of assault and battery, to which he had previously pleaded guilty, will not be pressed it is said. He had pleaded not guilty to the other charges.

His arrest grew out of his alleged participation in a brawl at the home of James Watt, colored, E. Third St., Sunday night which led to six arrests. Stunich was alleged to have drawn a gun and struck John Day over the head.

Changing his plea from not guilty to guilty, Waitre Stoffer, colored, 30, charged with possessing liquor, was fined $100 and costs by the mayor Tuesday morning. He was committed to the County Jail.

Case of Lewis Swan, this city, charged with disorderly conduct, was continued by Mayor Prugh upon his future good behavior. He was arrested in the same raid.

Ray Barton, 21, also arrested in the raid, consented to Mayor Prugh's orders that he leave the city, and a charge of disorderly conduct was dropped.

Police made nine arrests over the week-end of alleged liquor law violators and others on less serious charges.

FORMER DRUGGIST ARRESTED IN RAID AND LIQUOR SEIZED

Thirteen cases containing 936 bottles of Jamaica ginger and a fourth part of another bottle, five gallons, one quart and a pint of grain alcohol were confiscated by Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, assisted by J. E. Wadsworth and John Powell, state prohibition inspectors, in a raid on the home of Charles M. Ridgway, former druggist, in Cedarville Monday afternoon.

Ridgway was arrested and is at liberty under $500 bond pending his arrangement before R. O. Copsey, justice of the peace, Friday morning at 9 o'clock on a charge of possessing liquor. He appeared before the magistrate Monday night but was released under bond without entering a plea.

Raiding officers say they found the Jamaica ginger piled up in cases on the rear porch at his home. The grain alcohol was found in an upstairs room.

Ridgway, who formerly conducted a drug store in Cedarville, told officers he was storing the liquor, which was at one time part of the store stock, and was about to ship it to his brother, Benjamin Ridgway, who operates a chain of drug stores in other cities.

The Cedarville man also admitted for the grain alcohol, declaring it was used by himself and his wife for bathing purposes and that his alcohol permit does not expire until July 1.

The large quantity of liquor was transferred by authorities to the strong room in the County Jail.

WAR DECLARED ON RESIDENCE ROW AS CLEANING TIME ARRIVES

Let a Xenia woman see the first robin and her first thought is: "I must start housecleaning." She looks forward with much zest to the time when she can completely renovate and revolutionize her house arrangement and thoughts of the previous year's hard work do not dampen her ardor.

But housecleaning, like many other things, today isn't what it used to be, thanks to the labor-saving devices that help the modern woman do her housework. Men of the household are indeed grateful to manufacturers of said devices.

If there is one time in the year that men dread it is the housecleaning period, but today men know the season will be shortened and their home will not be thrown in the furor of previous years.

Men of the house could, in former years, always look forward to being asked to beat the carpets and rugs, move heavy furniture and drag around heavy packs of discarded goods when they arrived home from a hard day at the office.

That problem has been solved. It hasn't been by the housewife neglecting her home's appearance, but rather by her being able to keep each room in perfect condition the year round, through modern inventions.

In years gone-by, from cellar to attic, from foundation to roof-tree, the war on dirt was ruthlessly waged. Carpets, nailed to the floor since the year before, were stained and varnish may also be

TEA TROUSERS FOR WOMEN SENSATION OF LONDON STYLES

LONDON, April 13.—London women have taken to wearing trousers—"tea trousers."

They are in effect the self-same sort of pantaloons our grandmothers wore, minus the lacy frills—and minus also the skirt.

The new creations have been developed by the designers of Reville's, one of the most fashionable dress making establishments in London's exclusive West End. They constitute the real thrill of the opening Spring fashion shows, and Reville's is understood to be nearly swamped with orders for them.

"Of course," said M. Grabb, one of Reville's designers, "it is too early to predict that the new trousers will come into use for street wear, or even for motoring, but they certainly are the most fashionable of all the new Spring creations for fashionable afternoon teas and afternoon party wear."

"One must however have slender trim lines to wear them with the proper effect. A fat woman would look ridiculous in them."

Some of the tea trousers are made in black silk with red cuffs and some of red silk with black cuffs and some of colors described as "melting nuances of green." They are worn with colorful silk coats that come about halfway to the knees but which sweep away in front to reveal the waist line.

"Twinkling knees" that predominated in the winter styles will still be in fashion during the current season, though where the skirts are very short, according to Grabb, there is a tendency in the newest designs to veil the twinkle with thin silk which while still revealing the sides of the knees in a striding walk hides some of the detail.

"There will be no arbitrary length for the coming season,"

Grabb continued. "Skirts coming half way to the ankle will be just as much in fashion as skirts coming below the knee cap. One can choose whichever length suits one best, and still be in style."

Predominate among the new Spring colors are Lely blues, fox-glove pinks, ripe corn, pearl gray and the aforesaid "melting nuances of green." Black set with touches of brilliant coloring remains fashionable.

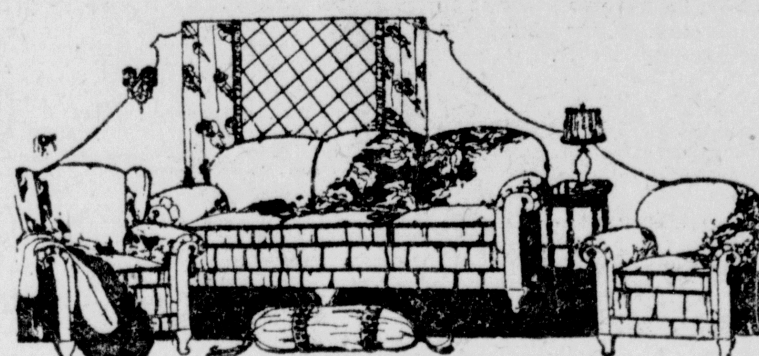

The showing of the Spring models revealed that the attempts of Parisian designers to force high tight waists with full bodices into the Spring styles has failed in England, and the thin, willowy, long-waisted figure still reigns queen in the English styles for the Spring and Summer at any rate, of 1926.

YOUNG DESPERADO SURRENDERS

JAMES LYONS AGAIN BEHIND BARS AFTER EFFECTING ESCAPE

Slayer Visited Wife And Evades Poses While Away

By United Press
NORWALK, O., April 13.—A woman sent James Lyons, youthful desperado and killer back to the jail, from which he escaped to face trial and possible execution for the murder of Frank McGrath, express company detective, shot to death at Havana near here Feb. 18.

Lyons, who escaped from the county jail yesterday morning plunging the entire district into an uproar and bringing scores of men, including national guardsmen, into the field to search for him, was safely in his cell again today, having surrendered because "My wife asked me to."

Young Lyons, who calmly recounted how he escaped, as calmly announced the desire to face trial for the murder of McGrath. Detectives stood guard over the youth today and attorneys meanwhile announced that the trial will open tomorrow.

Lyons' wife, whom he married two years ago, sent him back to the jail to surrender after the youth had offered to place himself in her custody and allow her to collect any reward that may have been offered for his capture.

The young slayer, in revealing that he was married, refused to disclose his wife's name but admitted that she was residing in Norwalk.

Authorities learned with amazement that he was married, having believed that he was single and that when he broke jail he had fled to Toledo, possibly to seek refuge with a "sweetheart."

The few posers which remained out all night, unaware that the desperado had returned of his own accord, were told of the event today when they reported at the jail. The surrender, undoubtedly marked the end of one of the most intense periods in the annals of Norwalk.

Demand that Sheriff Edward Gregory resign because of "carelessness" in allowing Lyons to escape were not repeated today although the board of commissioners yesterday adopted resolutions asking the sheriff to quit.

Gregory broke down and wept upon seeing the slayer. Lyons retired after eating a hearty meal and slept soundly. Before retiring he demonstrated for newspapermen the method which brought him free dom.

MISSING PLANE IS FOUND; FLYER SAFE

CAIRO, April 13.—The plane of the missing Capt. Estevez who fell behind his companions on the Cairo to Baghdad stage of the Spanish flight from Madrid to Tokyo, was found today 120 miles from the Biblical City of Amman. A note left by Estevez said he and his companion had left the plane to walk to Amman. They landed there more than twenty-four hours ago.

BUSHIRE, Persia, April 13.—Captains Gallaraza and Loriga, Spanish Madrid-Tokyo fliers, reached this point from Baghdad this morning and departed immediately for Benderaband.

RIEGLER NOT AFTER KENT NORMAL POST

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Vernon Riegl, state director of education, is not a candidate for the presidency of Kent State Normal School and would not accept the post if it were offered him, he said today in answer to reports that he would be offered the post. Riegl said he was mindful that such an offer would be a good one, but that it is entirely out of the line of educational work he expects to follow.

He further added he had no favorite or any suggestion to make in the selection of the new "prexy."

PHYSICIAN DIES

SANDUSKY, O., April 13.—Dr. M. J. Love, 78, was dead at his home at Bloomington, near here today. He had been a practicing physician for more than 50 years and had been located in Monroeville 46 years.

Dr. Love was Erie County's representative in the lower branch of the legislature from 1894 to 1898 inclusive and for a quarter of a century had been the pension examiner for the Ohio Soldiers and Sailors Home near here.

UNRELENTING LAW SHADOWS DAYS OF CINDERELLA AND MILLIONAIRE PRINCE

NEW YORK, April 13.—Stern realities appearing to mock the dreams of the former Frances (Peaches) Heenan, have made that 15-year-old girl's first days as the bride of Edward Browning something less than an unqualified success.

Not that the bridegroom, his fifty-one years sitting lightly upon him, hasn't been solicitous. He has been all of that at such times as he and his wife have been exposed to public view. But certain honeymoon developments have conspired to make "Peaches" somewhat miserable.

One of the latest pronouncements to cast a shadow on the course of the Browning marriage was that of Special Attorney Clayton Rider of Putnam County where the wedding took place Saturday who threatened investigation as to whether either bride or bridegroom had established six months residence before applying for the license.

Another bit of disturbing news was given the young wife by physicians yesterday, who examined burns on her chin and neck which were sustained mysteriously some time ago when some one threw acid upon her while she slept.

The doctors agreed that some scars would be left.

DRUNKENNESS MORE WIDESPREAD NOW IS TOLD TO COMMITTEE

Moderation League Director Heard At Senate Hearing

By United Press
WASHINGTON, April 13.—Drunkenness is more widespread now than in the days of the open saloon, Stanley Shirk, research director of the New York Moderation League told the senate prohibition committee today.

Opening the final stage of the wetcase, Shirk revealed results of his national survey showing arrests for drunkenness had increased in 457 representative places from 250,000 in 1920 to 550,000 in 1924.

Every state in the union was represented in the survey from which Shirk concluded:

"When we consider that drunkenness generally has already increased to the pre-prohibition level and that drunken drivers and drunken children have increased far above anything ever known before, we cannot escape the conclusion that the Volstead act has utterly failed to do what it was intended to do, namely promote temperance and sobriety."

Conditions have become worse, not better each year. With the "next generation" drinking as never before there be no hope that the Volstead act in its present drastic form will accomplish its purpose in the long run.

"From the experience before national prohibition of the states which had restrictive laws, from the experience of the years 1916-1919 and from the experience of the Canadian provinces we believe that a greater degree of temperance can be attained by a wise restrictive law than by a bone-dry law which does not command the respect of a large part of the people."

"We are also of the firm conviction that such a policy of wise restriction would have the incidental advantage of eliminating almost entirely the scandalous corruption and bribery of public officials; would stop the growth of the bootlegging millionaire class; would check disrespect for law and would in addition, produce a handsome national revenue."

"In former wet states, drunkenness is about the same now as before prohibition," Shirk said, "but in states which had their own dry laws before prohibition, drunkenness is much higher than in 1914."

Taking Washington, D. C., as an example, Shirk said arrests of persons under twenty-two years old, averaged forty-four a year from 1914 to 1917 when a bone dry act was enacted here. Immediately there was an increase in child drunkenness, he said. In 1918 the forty-four figure had grown to seventy-three and by 1924 had reached 282 an increase of 504 per cent from the pre-prohibition year.

Shirk said his figures were gained from official records of chiefs of police. He also told of increases in drunken auto drivers, saying no city registered a decrease.

In Akron, Ohio, for instance, he said, arrests increased from one in 1914 to 245 in 1924. In twenty representative places the increase was from 1,322 in 1919 to 6,006 in 1924.

Senator McKinley, Coolidge Candidate, Has Strong Opposition From Colonel Smith— Brennan Good As Nominated.

CHICAGO, April 13.—The Coolidge administration was on trial today as Illinois voters marched to the polls to select senatorial nominees to both major political parties.

In previous primaries throughout the country this year, the Coolidge strength has been tested slightly but Illinois Republican voters today must decide either for or against the national administration. It is an out and out test.

Senator William B. McKinley, Coolidge Republican, is seeking re-nomination with the administration program as his platform. He is opposed by Colonel Frank

L. Smith, down-state political who has waged a bitter-battle against most of the administration program, particularly the world court resolution.

Principal interest in today's election will be in the Republican nomination as the Democrats are expected to turn in a tremendous majority for George Brennan, Chicago political boss, who seeks a senate seat on a "dripping wet" platform.

Clear skies and spring temperatures brought assurances that the vote in today's primary—which has been highly balloted for months—would be heavy. The early morning vote in Chicago, was heavy and first reports from down state indicated that both parties were mustering full strength.

Here in Chicago, where in addition to the senatorial fight there are numerous bitter local contests, extreme precautions were taken to guard the polls. The entire police strength of the city was on duty but despite this the streets voting brought reports of trouble. One election worker was slugged in the early voting and three precinct workers were reported kidnapped.

TRACY CRITICIZES USE OF FAIR FUNDS

COLUMBUS, O., April 13.—Court action may be instituted to prevent "diverting of legitimate receipts due the treasury," from leases of State Fair Grounds buildings, State Auditor Tracy said in a letter today to Governor Donahue as a result of the Governor's approval of State Director of Agriculture Charles Truax's policy of accepting newspaper advertising for a fair in lieu of cash rentals.

In approving continuation of this policy, the governor, Tracy charged, was authorizing violation of a law that the Governor had taken credit for having enacted. Tracy expressed approval of the governor's recent order directing the elimination of free passes to the state fair.

NEW GOVERNMENT STARTED IN CHINA

PEKIN, April 13.—Tuan Chi Jui, the deposed president of China has secretly set up a miniature government in the legation quarter, the United Press learned today and intends passively to replace another in the presidentialist and the efforts of nationalists to palace.

It is learned that Tuan Monday night secretly assembled his adherents in the legation quarter where he had taken refuge from the Nationalists who would have imprisoned him and decided to retain the official seals of office. Tuan's effort to continue to function as president is to prevent former President Tsao Kun or any other from assuming the office.

A party of Americans and other foreigners endeavoring to reach Tien Tsin from Peking by motor today were subjected to shell fire of the armies fighting for control. Soldiers compelled the motorists to turn back.

Fighting, however, is light along all fronts.

STECK TAKES SENATORIAL SEAT CUTTING REPUBLICAN MAJORITY

Defeat Of Four Republican Candidates For Senate
Would Cripple Party Majority—
Brookhart To Run Again.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—With Daniel F. Steck functioning today as Democratic Senator from Iowa, by the grace of considerable Republican support—politicians began casting up the political balance resulting from the old fight in the Steck-Senator Brookhart election contest.

As a result they found that the Democrats must win only eight of the twenty odd Republican senatorial seats this fall to overcome the Republican majority in the Senate.

The defeat of even four Republicans would throw the balance of power back to the "insurgents" Republican group where it flourished last session.

The seating of Daniel Steck, Democrat and "American Legion Commander of Iowa" by the senate changed the line up to fifty-five republicans, forty democrats and one farmer-laborite.

"I'm glad it's all over," Brookhart said today, commenting on the Senate vote of forty-five to

THREATEN LIFE OF SEVEN MILE MAYOR

CINCINNATI, O., April 13.—"We got two of them and you are next."

The foregoing was the brief but threatening message pinned to the door at the home of Mayor Morris Shuler, who operates a liquor court in Butler County.

The "two" referred to according to Shuler were Wilbur Jacobs and Robert Gary, raiders from Shuler's court who were killed within the past year.

Two attempts to kill Shuler have been made. Once his house was fired. Another time the place was dynamited.

A letter from Mrs. Cecelia Denston, in England charges Denston left England and entered the United States with another woman with whom he then was living, caused the investigation.

Following Denston's death, his present wife left for Canada, deserting Denston's three children by a first wife in Gambier. Thomas will investigate legality of the admittance of the children into the United States.

Parsons, formerly of Marietta, Ohio, now superintendent of Notre Dame Bay Memorial Hospital at Twillingate, on the northern coast of Newfoundland, is in Cleveland for his first taste of city life in two years. ### BURBANK'S WORK TO BE CARRIED ON IS PROMISE MADE BY WIDOW

SANTA ROSA, Calif., April 13.—Just as the plants which Luther Burbank nurtured so tenderly still live now that he has gone, so will the work he planned be carried on by those left behind.

"The spring planting will not be discontinued," said Mrs. Burbank today. "This is the great growing season and my husband's plans will be carried out."

Members of the Burbank household including his many expert gardeners are expert naturalists and they will be able to propagate every species which Burbank developed if not display his ardor in creating new flowers or vegetables.

FANS THRON PARKS AS IDEAL WEATHER GREET MOST TEAMS

Predictions Rife As Major Loop Clubs
Begin Races

The skies smiled in most of the major league cities today where during the afternoon the baseball season will have its inception before thunderous audiences expected to cram the corners of eight parks.

In Boston, usually a bug-bear for season openers, it was cold but higher temperatures were predicted later today. The sun was shining brightly.

Washington's fans awoke disappointed to find the air chilled and the skies overcast.

The other cities reported almost ideal weather.

As the sixteen teams prepared to fire their opening blasts the "guessers" were hard at it. Scarcely a fan doesn't have his own ideas as to how late September will find the teams placed.

Wall Street is always willing to accommodate those who seek to finance their baseball predictions and odds are quoted by betting commissions as follows:

National: New York 8 to 5; Pittsburgh 2 to 1; St. Louis 4 to 1; Cincinnati 4 to 1; Boston 6 to 1; Brooklyn 7 to 1; Philadelphia 5 to 1; Chicago, 10 to 1.

American: Washington 2 to 1; Philadelphia 2 to 1; New York 5 to 2; Detroit 4 to 1; St. Louis 5 to 1; Chicago 6 to 1; Cleveland 8 to 1; Boston 2 to 1.

Those odds are unfair in the typical Wall Street manner since both "Books" figure more than 150 per cent, meaning that the layer of odds figures to collect fifty per cent commission no matter what teams finally win.

The United Press, in an effort to learn whether country-wide opinions of sporting writers might coincide with the odds given above today compiled the predictions of its sporting editor, Henry L. Farrell with those of Ralph Davis, Cleveland Press; Gene Kessler, Washington News; Frederick J. Lieb, New York Telegram and Tom Swope, Cincinnati Post.

The compilation on the basis of eight points for first place; seven for second, showed the following result:

National—Pittsburgh 45 1-2; New York 43; Cincinnati, 33 1-4; St. Louis 22; Boston 24; Brooklyn 12; Philadelphia 11; Chicago 8.

American—Philadelphia 42 1-2; Washington 42; New York 35 1-2; St. Louis 34; Detroit 23; Chicago 22; Cleveland 12; Boston 6.

It will be noticed that each of the six writers chose Cleveland and Boston to finish seventh and eighth in the American League.

CHARGE DENIED BY MARINE OFFICER

MARINE BASE, SAN DIEGO, Calif., April 13.—Col. Alexander S. Williams had "stomach trouble" on the night of March 6 and was not "full of cocktails" as charged by General Smedley Butler, according to the accused officer's defense which opened today at his court martial here on charges of intoxication.

General Butler's accusations hurled in open court martial were directly controverted by testimony of defense witnesses, who declared Col. Williams had a sudden attack of stomach trouble at the hotel Del Coronado, which necessitated he be assisted home.

General Butler told the court martial that he saw Col. Williams "intoxicated" declaring vigorously that he was "so drunk" he had to be carried from the hotel.

ASKS FOR RECEIVER FOR INTERNATIONAL DEVELOPMENT FIRM

Charging fraudulent representation in real estate, a receivership suit was instituted in common pleas court, Dayton, Saturday against the International Development Co., 816 Reibold Building, Dayton, promoters of the Wright View Heights, near Wilbur Wright field by Ennis E. Cox and Virginia Cox of Miami-Burg.

An injunction to restrain the realty company from continuing alleged fraudulent operations also is sought in the suit.

The plaintiffs alleged several months ago they received a card from the development company announcing they had won a lot in Wright View Heights. A $1 deposit was asked to hold the deal intact until the property could be viewed, after which the plaintiffs were required to pay the company $48 in order to secure the deed, which amount was to cover all costs of the lot.

While at the plat the defendants' agent proposed the plaintiffs trade their lot, which he said was worth $300, for another lot in the plat which the defendant, it is said, falsifiedly represented as being worth $755.

He agreed to credit them with

$48 paid for the lot won by them on the more expensive lot, the petition charges. The balance was to be paid at the rate of $12 a month. The petition charges the lot purported to be worth $755 was, at the time of the transaction, worth but $90.

The petitioners seek to recover their $48 and force the concern into receivership, as well as enjoin it from further operations.

BRONZE FOUNDRY AT ANTIOCH FINISHES CASTING NEW BUSTS

Since commencing operations, the art bronze factory of Antioch College, Yellow Springs, has completed the casting of busts of Arthur E. Morgan, president of the college; C. F. Kettering, chief engineer of the General Motors Research Corporation, Dayton, and of Colonel Deeds, Dayton financier. The "Italian lost wax process" is used.

The busts were modeled by C. S. Paolo, a New York sculptor, during the past year. Giovanni Polizzoto, formerly of the Academy of Arts, Palermo, Sicily, and famous in Italy for his sculpture and bronze casting, is in charge of the foundry operations and has been in Yellow Springs since December making preliminary arrangements. His most famous piece of work is an equestrian group which stands today in Rome.

The "lost wax process" operates as follows: A plaster of Paris cast of the artist's model is first made. A hollow wax model is moulded from this. From this model, which is the exact thickness of the cast, two plaster of Paris casts are formed, one of the inside and another of the outside. Wax is then melted out and molten bronze poured in and allowed to harden. When the plaster casts are broken off, finishing touches are added.

By use of this method, it is the aim to have quality production rather than quantity, and produce art works of real artistic value.

Kaiser Boyle is the production and business manager of the enterprise. Walter McQuire is technician, Polizzoto, foundry superintendent and Chris Schultz, sales manager.

XVIII. HEAD WORK

Today's exercise will be found to be different from any you have learned so far. It will bring some brand new muscles into action.

Position: Kneeling on all fours, with hands on the floor.

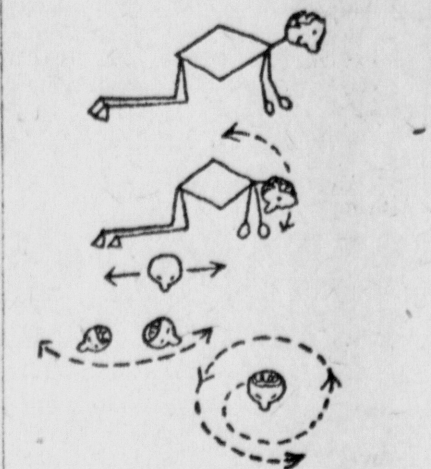

Exercise:

(a) Have head lowered, then raise

high and backward. (b) Looking at floor, bend head to left and right. (c) Rotate, looking left and right. (d) Circumduction (circle).

These are all head movements and every move should be fully completed; in other words, do not hurry the exercise but complete each bend to the fullest extent. Continue each for 16 counts.

The first movement consists of lowering the head, then raising it and bending it back as far as possible.

sible. The second is performed by bending your head to either side, meanwhile looking downward. Then, looking toward the ceiling, you rotate the head as you look to the left and to the right. In the last movement, known as circumduction, you make a circle with your head, first one way for eight counts and then the other.

If this last part of the exercise makes you dizzy at first, decrease the number of counts, but go through these exercises every day.

The Theatre

Whatever the turn of the tide, the American theater is in for a day of reckoning in the opinion of John J. Daly, dramatic critic of the Washington Post, given in an article in the National Republic, recently.

"In what might be called the day of heebiejeebee dramaturgy, when plays to hold the attention of nerve-ridden audiences must perforce administer more of the drug that eventually tears down rather than saves the nervous systems, shocks the sensibilities and outrages a wrathful portion of the populace—the reformers—'tis a good doctor who can put his finger at once on any vital spot and say just what ails the patient; in this case the American Theater—

"An old timer, were he to return today, would hardly recognize the place. Mechanically, the American theater has far surpassed all others. There are no finer playhouses on earth than those in New York and the larger cities of this country. American scenic art, stage craft and other such adjuncts to the theater—acting, too—hold their own with contemporaries in any clime.

"In manner and method of entertainment, the American branch has something to answer for; and this with the recognition that London and Paris are also accused of being on a par theatrically with New York. Just at present, Paris, is probably one step ahead of our own metropolis in presenting nudity on the stage. London is a close second with crudity, not to menity, indelicate and oft times indecent situations—they merely follow a natural trend."

AGENT WINS WATCH AS CONTEST PRIZE

Otto Hornick, Xenia agent for the Columbia Life Insurance Co., Cincinnati, won first prize in the selling contest conducted among agents he learned at the convention at Cincinnati Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. Hornick was awarded a gold wrist watch as the first prize in his division, having sold the most insurance during an eighteen-day contest. He attended the convention with Mrs. Hornick, both being the guests of the company at a round of entertainment during the three day meeting.

DR. W. B. CALDWELL AT THE AGE OF 83

"Purges" and "Physics" Bad for Old Folks

While Dr. W. B. Caldwell, of Monticello, Ill., a practicing physician for 47 years, knew that constipation was the curse of advancing age, he did not believe that a "purge" or "physic" every little while was necessary.

To him, it seemed cruel that so many constipated old people had to be kept constantly "stirred up" and half sick by taking cathartic pills, tablets, salts, calomel and nasty oils.

In Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin he discovered a laxative which helps to "regulate" the bowels of old folks. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin not only causes a gentle, easy bowel movement but each dose helps to strengthen the bowel muscles shortly establishing natural "regularity." It never gripes, sickens, or upsets the system. Besides, it is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take.

If past fifty, buy a large 50-cent bottle at any store that sells medicines and just see for yourself. adv

The Story of a Girl Who Took Life Into Her Own Hands

Copyright, 1925, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

MARY WAITE shares two rooms with CELIA STEWART, and works as a stenographer and general assistant in the office of

STANLEY BLAKE. Mary has few friends, but Celia goes out frequently in the evening, though she does not tell with whom. Mary finds that Celia and Stanley see each other frequently, although Stanley is married. Mary goes to supper with

PAT HAMILTON, whom she has met before but whose attentions she has refused because he is married, and sees Celia and Stanley at another table. Mrs. Blake learns that Stanley is going around with some girl, and thinks it is Mary. She threatens Mary, threatening to make trouble unless Mary leaves town at once. Celia disappears. Mary sees Hamilton again, and he arranges for her to go to New York and work for a friend of his. Mary goes to work in New York for MR. CRANDALL, a wealthy old man, and meets his son

WILL CRANDALL, who is very nice to her. She motors into the country with Will on Saturday afternoon, and they are stranded on a back road when the car runs out of gas. Mary goes with Will to spend the week-end with his brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Virginia Crandall. Old Mr. Crandall is taken ill, and Will and Jim return to town. Mary goes to the beach with Virginia and there meets Celia again. Mary hears from Pat Hamilton, who says that if she will do some stenographic work for him she can cancel her debt to him. She returns to New York. Hamilton persuades her to break her engagement to Will Crandall.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT

XLV—LIFE'S CRUELTY

WHEN Mary regained consciousness after the news of Will's being hurt had caused her to faint, her one idea was to get to him.

Practically she caught up the newspaper and read the account of the accident. He had been crossing a street when an automobile coming suddenly around a corner, had run over him.

He had been taken to a hospital. Grabbing her hat and coat, Mary ran from the house, and hailed a passing taxi. She gave the driver the name of the hospital, and although the drive was really a short one, to her it seemed endless.

At the hospital she asked if she might see Will. "He can't see anyone," she was told. "He has just been brought back from the operating-room, and is still unconscious."

"But—tell me how he is, if he's going to get well," she begged. "Just a minute." She had been talking to a girl who was in charge of the waiting-room. The girl turned to a nurse who was passing and talked with her for a few moments, then returned to Mary.

"It is impossible to tell now whether he will recover or not," she said. "If you will phone in the morning—

"Couldn't I wait here?" Mary asked. "Maybe in a few hours you'd be able to tell me something. I can't go away!"

The girl said that she might remain in the waiting-room if she cared to, and Mary went to a chair in the corner and sat there, staring down at the floor, looking up eagerly whenever anyone came to the door.

There were other people waiting too, people whose faces looked as strained and anxious as Mary's. Two men, a woman with a little girl at her side, who hurried to the door when one of the doctors appeared on there for a moment, stood listening while he spoke to her, and then burst into sobs that made Mary's throat ache.

Mary felt that she knew all the sorrow in the world as she sat there, that she could sympathize with everyone, anywhere, who was in trouble.

The doctor looked at her curiously.

kind as that. And Jim will help." She remained at the hospital during the day, but was not allowed to see Will—only his mother could see him, she was told.

"But—I'm engaged to him," she said. "I'm sure he'd want to see me."

"He has not asked for you," the nurse told her. "Perhaps tomorrow. Why don't you go home and rest now, and then come back or telephone?"

Mary did go home, and fell asleep the moment she lay down on her bed. She returned to the hospital early in the evening, and was told that Will was better, but still was not allowed to see him.

"But—he and I were going to be married today," she told the nurse at last. "Couldn't I see him for just a moment?"

Mrs. Crandall entered the hall just then, and the nurse hurried to meet her. She glanced over at Mary, and then shook her head, replied to the nurse's questions, and turned away. "I'm sorry," the nurse said to Mary, coming back to her. "Mrs. Crandall feels that it will be better if you do not see her son. He mustn't be disturbed by anything."

Mary went home feeling like a beaten animal. Was it possible that Will didn't want to see her, hadn't asked for her? Or was his mother deliberately coming between them seeking to keep them apart? She tried all the following week to see Will, but was never allowed to do so. At the end of that time she was told that he had been removed to his family's country place.

Once more she faced the problem of getting work and making a new life for herself.

It was hard, but she clung to a new hope now. Surely, when Will grew better, really recovered from his accident, he would come to her. She felt sure that it was not his fault, but his family's that she was not at his side.

Not until Pat Hamilton again forced his way into her life did things become unbearable.

Tomorrow—Hamilton's Way.

ROOF DESTROYED IN FIRE HERE TUESDAY

Residence of Frank Dodds, E. Market St., was damaged by fire originating from burning sparks falling from a chimney flue on a shingle roof, to the extent of between $1,000 and $1,500, at 1:30 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. Loss is believed covered by insurance.

Gaining great headway before the flames were discovered by a passerby, the blaze was fanned by a brisk wind and spread rapidly to the adjoining residence of F. P. Hastings, badly scorching the east side.

The blaze ate its way through the roof of the Dodds residence to the second story and was extinguished by firemen with difficulty only after the entire roof was burned away. Most of the household goods were carried from the burning structure. Water damage was also great.

Property is owned by Mrs. Daisy Rosetter, Dayton.

A jury in Common Pleas Court awarded James Conner, as administrator of the estate of Russell Conner, deceased, $2,800 damages, the full amount of his suit against the Pennsylvania Railroad Co., Monday afternoon, following a two-day trial.

Jury deliberated two hours after receiving the case at 2:30 p. m. The administrator brought suit for damages against the company as a result of a crossing accident at Roxanna nearly a year ago, in which Russell Conner was instantly killed when his automobile was struck by a train.

The train was traveling at an excessive rate of speed and failed to sound a warning, he also contended.

NOTHING IN A NAME

WHAT'S in a name? Parents name their children before they have the slightest notion what the children are going to turn out like, and yet the system works admirably. All because there's nothing in a name.

People name a son Hercules, not because he has shown any signs of superhuman strength in the cradle, but because the parents happen to like the sound or associations of the name. Society sees nothing ridiculous in the fact that the magic name of Samson is often attached to nervous little men who are afraid of their wives and jump at a dog's bark.

It is generally recognized that a name is not a description, but merely a means of identification. The Thomases are no greater doubters than the Joneses; the Violets no more nor less modest than other feminine namesakes of flowers, and neither are the Daisies more taciturn than the Helens and Cleopatras.

This is contrary to the view of some who profess to be authorities on the question, but the weight of the evidence seems to sustain the belief that the appropriately named are in the minority and that even those in the minority owe their apt christening to chance.

Apropos of this question, it may be observed that the man makes the name, not the name the man. But for the famous men and women who bore them, this generation would attach no especial significance or meaning to such names as William Shakespeare, John Keats, Robert Browning, Frances Bacon, Helen of Troy, Cleopatra, Queen Elizabeth and Edgar Allen Poe.

Usually, where the believers in the power of the name, cite examples, it will be found that they are cases where the parent has both christened and trained the child with one purpose in view, or that the peculiarly adapted name is a nom de plume or pseudonym. Anatole France, Moliere and George Eliot are adopted names. Robert Louis Stevenson was christened Robert Lewis Stevenson. George Bernard Shaw has dropped the "George". Mark Twain's real name was Samuel Langhorne Clemens.

SUMMERLESS YEARS

AFTER meteorological records have been kept for centuries it may be possible to surmise with some degree of accuracy that certain years will be marked by extraordinary weather conditions. But it is a bit premature to rush to the conclusion, because spring has been belated, that this is to be "a year without a summer," like 1816. It will be better to wait until after July and August before putting 1926 in that class.

So many myths have been circulated concerning 1816 that it is gratifying to obtain an unvarnished account of the freaks of the weather in that year. Such a report is available in a diary kept by Elisha Risdon of Hopkinton, N. Y., a part of which has recently been published. His entries show that snow fell on June 6 and 8, while under date of June 14 he wrote: "It has frozen every night since June came in, except a few rainy, foggy nights." June 28 there was a little frost. The backwardness of the crops caused alarm in July. Or August 24 he wrote: "Considerable frost. Vines and even corn, in some places are ruined."

One reason why there is expectation in some quarters that this is to be a "summerless year" is that for six consecutive years temperatures east of the Rocky mountains have been generally above normal. The theory is entertained that to compensate for the high temperatures there must be weather conditions over an extended period of years to warrant the forming of conclusions. There is no basis in the records for believing, as some profess they do, that the a season of unusually low thermometer readings. But too little is known with regard to definite laws of sequence of weather moves in cycles of 55 years.

TIME AND CHANCE

THERE is a destiny which shapes our ends and our lives, but what a frail and inconspicuous destiny it is! One little incident may change the whole tenor of a life, has made a success out of a failure, has given fame and even immortality.

Joseph Conrad, greatest writer of sea stories, became a "sea-rover" because his first books as a Polish boy were of the sea and exploration. What might he have been as a man if his library as a boy had been other than it was?

Benjamin Franklin followed vague inclination to ship from Boston to Philadelphia and became Pennsylvania's leading citizen of his time, the spokesman for the American colonies and an immortal figure in American history. What might he have been had he continued in the employ of his brother's print shop?

Who can account for the chance dig of the spade which uncovered the tomb of Tutankhamen, the fortunate discovery of the first oil well at Titusville, Pa., and the gold nugget which precipitated the rush of the forty-niners to California?

Many of us can place our fingers on one happening, perhaps accidental, which was the deciding factor in the determination of our life's work. A chance perusal of the classified advertising page of a newspaper has been this deciding factor for thousands. Such a thing as a news item has been known to serve as the one break in the wall of the rut.

When Elbert Hubbard wrote that "Man should follow the dictates of his passions" he did not mean that he should give full play to his desires, but that the subconscious inclinations of man are sooner to be obeyed than obstacle-finding, inspiration-dampening, deliberation.

PAINTERSVILLE

Paintersville, only village in Caesarcreek Twp., was laid out along the Jamestown Pike, which forms the main street of the village. Painters Creek flows about 200 yards north of the northernmost lot of the town.

Before the village was laid out, the site was a part of the 150-acre farm owned by Jesse Painter, son of David Painter, first settler of Caesarcreek Twp. At that time Jesse Painter and Jonathan Oglesbee owned country stores on its site where residents of the surrounding country came to purchase supplies.

Painter soon decided that the modest trading point was an ideal site for a village. As he owned the surrounding land, he employed Surveyor Moses Collier to plat the town in 1837. Work was finished that year.

After this was completed, Joseph Oglesbee erected a frame building on a lot later owned by John Mason. Cornelius King built the next building, a brick structure, which later became the property of Lewis Thomas. A number of log houses were then built which gave place to frame and brick structures.

Population of Paintersville in 1881 was 150, in 1896, 100 and in 1918 about 150. The town's progress has been retarded since it is not located near a railroad. In the early eighties a narrow-gauge railroad was projected through the village but the plan never materialized.

Comparison of the business interests of the village at different dates shows the movement of the population to urban centers, the rapid means of communication facilitated by the automobile and telephone, and the proximity of larger adjacent villages has caused establishment of business enterprises in the town to lag.

Paintersville has deteriorated in this respect. The village had a saw mill in 1881, owned by James and Thomas Babb; a carriage factory, by Allen and Eli Powers; a blacksmith shop, by William King; a grocery store, by John B. Mason; a harness shop, by Lewis Thomas, and a physician, Dr. William Rowse. Town had two grocery stores, one harness shop, two blacksmith shops and one saw-mill in 1886.

spent. The weight of care is lifted on the flood of merriment; And for all those sixty seconds pain and anguish disappear. For there's never any heartache in the laughter which you hear.

There are times when man is solemn and is burdened down with care. And you know his heart is heavy, for life isn't always fair. There are countless disappointments for us all along the way. Many doubts for each to master, many plans that go astray. But when halo and hearty laughter rushes in and takes control. You would never guess, to see him, life had ever tried his soul.

By the blessed gift of laughter pain is swiftly put to rout, From the mind of him that moment care and grief are driven out. Fate has lost the power to harm him, all his hatreds are forgot; He's a free man for the moment, though at times he may be not. Here's one distinctive privilege that's given man at birth, So I thank the Lord for laughter and I thank the Lord for mirth.

MODISH MITZI—The Lilies Of The Field Get More Publicity BY J. V. JAY

Mitzi is reading with a deep and concentrated interest. Not a detective story. Not a novel. Not—the best of best sellers, either—far more interesting to Mitzi—well, to quote the final paragraph, "Fringe has an ever increasing importance. Silk fringe, chenille and now the new gold or silver mesh fringe."

For evening, the wraps are trimmed with a mesh fringe. This cape with the cross-stitch hood at most has a cape effect outlined with the same mesh fringe. Fashion borrows a great many of its fresh lights from armor effect and from heraldic designs this season. Keep your eye out for fringe this fall—it's going to swish very fashionably.

BIGGER AND BETTER SEASON LOOKED FOR BY DIAMOND MOGULS

Teams Closely Grouped In Strength As Race Starts

By HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Sports Editor)
NEW YORK, Apr. 13.—The old war-cry, "Play ball!" splits the air today.

The season is on in the major leagues and in the American and Southern Associations.

Thousands upon thousands of fans are ready with the frenzied urge to get their favorites off to a flying start for the next world's series.

Grandstands, bleachers and hands are dressed in their summer's best to do justice to the opening of the country's greatest show. And, says John Heydler, it will be "bigger and better than ever." Unquestionably a "top-notch season," echoes Commissioner Landis.

"Vice President Dawes will give official approval to the opening by tossing out the ball in the Washington opener instead of President Coolidge.

Scores of thousands of aunts, uncles and grandmothers will conveniently die for the day to give the office boys their chance to participate in the proceedings throughout the land.

The ump, after several months of vocal training and preliminary workouts in the southern camps, are in better voice than ever. The team clowns have dusted off some brand new acts and refurbished a number of old ones so that all who go may laugh.

All in all it looks a great year and the claxon call to arms this afternoon will be music to the ears of freedom from coast to coast. The United Press has made arrangements for thousands of miles of special wires to carry the scores and stories of the big game during the season.

Heydler says it will be a better season than last year because the teams are so closely grouped in the big leagues. And the competition makes the interest which increases the clatter of the dollars in the tills.

In the American League, St. Louis will open at Chicago, Cleveland at Detroit, Philadelphia at Washington and New York at Boston.

In the National League Pittsburgh will open at St. Louis, Chicago at Cincinnati, Brooklyn at New York and Boston at Philadelphia.

Competent critics are almost unanimous in the opinion that four clubs have to be considered in the National League—the champion Pittsburgh Pirates, the New York Giants, the St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds. The champion Washington Senators, the Philadelphia Athletics and the St. Louis Browns rank as the foremost contenders in the American League. The New York Yankees are a threat.

With two great pitching staffs, the Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Robins may have to be considered in the National League and the Chicago White Sox might cause an upset in the American League.

Except for the Chicago Cubs, every club in the National League was struggling during the winter by trades of purchases from the minor leagues and an unusual number of promising youngsters were uncovered at the training camps.

The Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox didn't do anything to improve since last season and they make the American League slightly less balanced than the National circuit.

Babe Ruth, of course, will command a lot of attention. The promise he made to stage a comeback this season will place him in more than the usual prominence. He is in better physical shape than he was last season at this time and he certainly has an added inducement to exert himself, because this is the last season of his $52,000 a year contract.

The experiment to be made in the National League permitting pitchers to rub resin on their hands will be of more than casual interest because it will have a vital effect on the game if better pitching and less hitting result. The American League did not accept the new rule and the pitchers in the younger organization cannot use any kind of foreign substance on the ball.

HOW THEY'LL FINISH
NEW YORK, April 13.—Following a series in which the ranking teams were discussed, the United Press offers today, the advance prediction of Henry L. Farrell, sports editor, on how the major league teams will finish. It is as follows:

National League
New York Giants
Pittsburgh Pirates
St. Louis Cardinals
Cincinnati Reds
Brooklyn Robins
Boston Braves
Philadelphia Phillies
American League
Washington Senators
Philadelphia Athletics
St. Louis Browns
New York Yankees
Chicago White Sox
Detroit Tigers
Cleveland Indians
Boston Red Sox

G. H. BROCKMAN TO BE MANAGER OF XENIA RESERVES THIS SEASON

G. H. Brockman, formerly of New York City, and one-time baseball star, will be the new manager of the Xenia Reserves Baseball Club, succeeding Jesse Chambliss, during the coming season, he announced Monday. He is now making Xenia his home.

Brockman intends to give Xenia one of its strongest independent diamond teams in years and has signed up an imposing array of stars.

Mr. Chambliss will retain connection with the team during the season.

Reserve squad held its first strenuous practice session at Washington Park diamond Sunday afternoon, the candidates coveting around the field with all the enthusiasm of rookies bent upon making a good showing with major league clubs during spring training.

The local nine will probably open its season next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park against the Bowersville Bayliffs. Contest will prove a good attraction with the well known Thurman Wical on the mound for the Bayliffs.

Among the local and Dayton players signed up with the Reserves this season are: "Stony" Fuller, center fielder; "Smiley" Eckhart, Dayton, shortstop; Cain at first; Ernest Randall, catcher; Jay Cyphers, third base; Jug Conley, second baseman, Milburn, outfielder, Al Ramsey, left field and Eugene Leakey, right field.

Ramsey and Conley may battle for the second base berth. Ramsey has had seven years experience under a former major league player while in the army and both are considered valuable additions to the team.

Eckhart, former Dayton player, will captain the team.

Five pitchers have been lined up giving the Reserves an unusually strong pitching staff. "Red" Powers, former St. Marys star, McPherson, of the Dayton Racers, Curt Free, local boy, Donald Clark, of the Dayton Shroyer Cubs, and Supinsky, of Dayton Stivers High School, will all work in the box at some time or another.

New manager also announces he is negotiating for the services of two Cincinnati players who will probably appear in uniform for a tryout next Sunday.

Archery against golfers.

Superiority between these two so widely different forms of sport will be decided in a unique match in which three Xenians will participate. Decoration Day at the Xenia Country Club.

Leigh Nisbet, Toledo, O., former Xenian, and Walter Jobe and Paul Yockey, this city, are principals in the match, the first of its kind to be staged in Xenia.

It will have all the aspects of a regulation golf match over the nine-hole course with the exception Nisbet will shoot with a bow and arrow. A small target will be placed on each green. Jobe and Yockey will play regular golf with Nisbet trying to negotiate the course and penetrate the target with an arrow in fewer number of shots than strokes of either of his two opponents. Match will be played on a low ball or "shot" basis.

The golfers will have an advantage on the drive or tee shot on each hole in distance as Nisbet does not expect to average better than 100 or 150 yards on his long shots. The archer, however, will probably be more accurate than his approach shots.

The golfers must hole out in less strokes than Nisbet takes shots to hit the target to win.

The stunt is not entirely new in this country but is a distinct novelty. Professional archers and golfers have been pitted against one another at times in the past with the match invariably resulting almost evenly.

STUNICH HELD FOR GRAND JURY AFTER HEARING MONDAY

Charged with being drunk and disorderly and carrying concealed weapons, Frank Stunich, 31, this city, was bound over to the grand jury by Mayor John Prugh at his hearing Monday afternoon. He was placed under a total bond of $1,000, $500 on each charge.

A third charge of assault and battery, to which he had previously pleaded guilty, will not be pressed it is said. He had pleaded not guilty to the other charges.

His arrest grew out of a brawl at the home of James Watt, colored, E. Third St., Sunday night which led to six arrests. Stunich was alleged to have drawn a gun and struck John Day over the head.

Changing his plea from not guilty to guilty, Waitre Stoffer, colored, 30, charged with possessing liquor, was fined $100 and costs by the mayor Tuesday morning. He was committed to the County Jail in default of payment. Patrolmen George Spencer and George Robinson arrested him Sunday.

Case of Lewis Swan, this city, charged with disorderly conduct, was continued by Mayor Prugh upon his future good behavior. He was arrested in the same raid. Ray Barton, 21, also arrested in the raid, consented to Mayor Prugh's orders that he leave the city, and a charge of disorderly conduct was dropped.

Mr. Clevelle was widely known as a stone cutter and was for a number of years employed at the George Dadds and Sons Granite and Marble Works. He was born in Xenia, February 11, 1862 and spent practically his entire life in this city.

His wife preceded him in death March 6, 1925. Surviving are the following children: Miss Clara Clevelle, a nurse in New York City; Walter Lennie, Lewis and Harold Clevelle, all of Xenia. The following brothers and sister also survive: John and Moses Clevelle, California; Amos Clevelle, Springfield and Mrs. Thomas Hellrigle, Youngstown, O.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

THOMAS B. GEARING DIES IN COLUMBUS

Nearly thirty years of service as an employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. ended when Thomas B. Gearing, 47, former Xenian, passenger conductor on the run between Columbus and Richmond, Ind., died at his home 401 Webber Road, Columbus, Monday morning at 8:20 o'clock.

His death is indirectly attributed by relatives to injuries sustained when he fell from a train about a year and one-half ago.

Decedent was born in Xenia and lived here until his family moved to West Jefferson when he was twenty years of age.

Surviving besides his widow and two daughters, is one sister, Mrs. Agnes Gruber, of Cleveland, O.

Funeral services will be held at the home in Columbus cemetery. Time of the services has not been announced.

NEW ORDINANCES BECOME EFFECTIVE

Four ordinances passed by City Commission a month ago, became effective Sunday.

Two most important are those of the new traffic ordinance and the measure regulating closing hours for billiard parlors in Xenia.

The traffic ordinance is the old one revamped with modified provisions and additional restrictions. Pool room measure requires these establishments to remain closed between 11 p. m. and 6 a. m. on all week days except Saturday when they must close at 12 p. m.

ByRON

Mrs. Maria Long is spending several weeks in Xenia.

Mrs. Arthur Linebaugh and children of Dayton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lindamood.

Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Knoll of Osborna, have moved into the property they recently bought of Mr. Foster Bell.

Quite a number of children of this vicinity are ill with measles.

Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Miller and family, near Yellow Springs, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brannum.

Mrs. J. A. Lindamood returned home after spending a week in Dayton, with relatives.

MODERN EDUCATION

Our modern school systems put a lot of work upon growing eyes which puts a strain upon those with defective vision. Latent defects in the eyes of children should be carefully looked after.

A little foresight now may keep them from wearing glasses later and will help them in their studies.

Let us examine their eyes.

The Gazette-Republican is not in the insurance business. Neither is it in the premium business. Its business is to publish a good newspaper and to sell it to people who want to buy it solely to read it, without any premium inducements.

But in line with its policy of rendering the greatest possible service to the public, The Gazette-Republican has determined that, if the public wishes to secure insurance policies through newspapers, the readers of The Gazette-Republican are entitled to more insurance, better insurance and greater protection than can be obtained anywhere else. It, therefore, has had drafted by the Continental Life Insurance Company of Missouri, a well-established stock company having assets of over nine million dollars approved, and licensed by the State of Ohio, a special $1,500 accident policy to be issued exclusively to Gazette-Republican readers, providing indemnity for loss of life, limb, sight or time resulting from nearly every conceivable traffic accident.

WAR DECLARED ON RESIDENCE ROW AS CLEANING TIME ARRIVES

Let a Xenia woman see the first robin and her first thought is: "I must start housecleaning." She looks forward with much zest to the time when she can completely renovate and revolutionize her house arrangement and thoughts of the previous year's hard work do not dampen her ardor.

But housecleaning, like many other things, today isn't what it used to be, thanks to the labor-saving devices that help the modern woman do her housework. Men of the household are indeed grateful to manufacturers of said devices.

If there is one time in the year that men dread it is the housecleaning period, but today men know the season will be shortened and their home will not be thrown in the furor of previous years. Men of the house could, in former years, always look forward to being asked to beat the carpets and rugs, move heavy furniture and drag around heavy packs of discarded goods when they arrived home from a hard day at the office.

That problem has been solved. It hasn't been by the housewife neglecting her home's appearance, but rather by her being able to keep each room in perfect condition the year round, through modern inventions.

In years gone-by, from cellar to attic, from foundation to roof-tree, the war on dirt was ruthlessly waged. Carpets, matted to the floor since the year before, were stained and varnish may also be ruthlessly torn up. Closets into which all manner of junk had been piled for months and months were bravely approached and firmly probed. Hubby's room was torn up, his favorite nooks were disarranged, there was no place for him to sit, stand or lie. He desperately climbed on top of the piano to avoid the dust clouds or avoided home entirely until the battle was over.

Johnny was dispatched beating rugs on his appearance from school. He and his father were "orphans of the storm" during the period and shared many uncomfortable moments.

But for many women this is now a thing of the past. Not that housecleaning can be avoided in Spring, that is too good to be true. But the necessary evil is considerably lessened by improved methods and tools. The vacuum cleaner, used regularly throughout the year, makes rug-beating a superfluous operation. Some housewives may still wish to take the rugs up and air them, but the severe drubbing they once were given is no more.

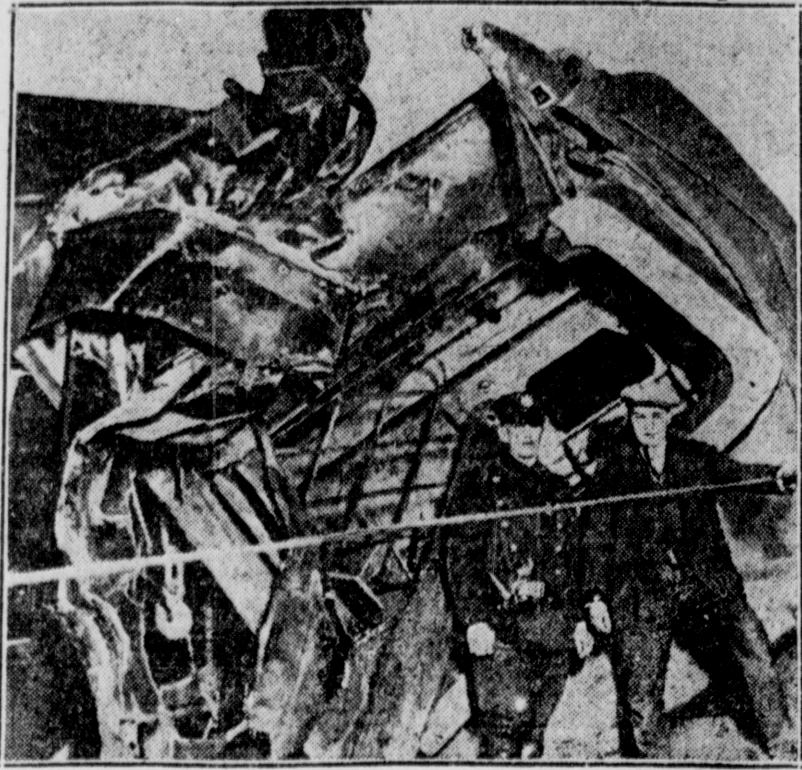

Walls can be brushed and if the paper is badly soiled, cleaned with paper cleaner. Painted walls may need a new coat to freshen them a bit and floors may be washed or waxed, depending on their finish, used if the job must be particularly thorough and woodwork will yield to similar treatment.

Linoleum can now be waxed with a special material prepared for that purpose and after this process is used, it requires less work to keep it clean. Upholstering furniture, mattresses and draperies all may be cleaned by means of the various attachments to the vacuum cleaner. The washing machine will take care of the curtains and they can be either ironed or dried on stretchers.

Examination of closets and the airing of their contents is good moth insurance.

Many careful housekeepers make their Spring cleaning a time for the inventory of their needs. As they clean they check over the needs of each room and make the necessary replacements in furnishings and implements.

New Jersey Rail Wreck

The wreckage of the first coach of the "Nelly Bly" express from New York to Atlantic City, in which one passenger was killed and forty were seriously hurt, is shown above just after the tragedy occurred, caused by spreading rails, near Delair, N. J. The engineer and fireman were also killed.

TEA TROUSERS FOR WOMEN SENSATION OF LONDON STYLES

LONDON, April 13.—London women have taken to wearing trousers—"tea trousers."

They are in effect the self-same sort of pantaloons our grandmothers wore, minus the lacey frills—and minus also the skirt.

The new creations have been developed by the designers of Reville's, one of the most fashionable dress making establishments in London's exclusive West End. They constitute the real thrill of the opening Spring fashion shows, and Reville's is understood to be nearly swamped with orders for them.

"Of course," said M. Grabb, one of Reville's designers, "it is too early to predict that the new trousers will come into use for street wear, or even for motoring, but they certainly are the most fashionable of all the new Spring creations for fashionable afternoon teas and afternoon party wear."

"One must however have slender trim lines to wear them with the proper effect. A fat woman would look ridiculous in them."

Some of the tea trousers are made in black silk with red cuffs and some of red silk with black cuffs and some of colors described as "melting nuances of green." They are worn with colorful silk coats that come about halfway to the knees but which sweep away in front to reveal the waist line. "Twinkling knees" that predominated in the winter styles will still be in fashion during the current season, though where the skirts are very short, according to Grabb, there is a tendency in the newest designs to veil the twinkling with thin silk which while still revealing the sides of the knees in a striding walk hides some of the detail.

"There will be no arbitrary length for the coming season,"

Grabb continued. "Skirts coming half way to the ankle will be just as much in fashion as skirts coming below the knee cap. One can choose whichever length suits one best, and still be in style."

Predominate among the new Spring colors are Lely blues, foxglove pinks, ripe corn, pearl gray and the aforesaid "melting nuances of green." Black set with touches of brilliant coloring remains fashionable.

The showing of the Spring models revealed that the attempts of Parisian designers to force high long-waisted figure still reigns tight waists with full bodices into queen in the English styles for the Spring and Summer at any England, and the thin, willowy, rate, of 1926.
